

We live justice when we love and forgive everyone

“Justice, and only justice, shall you pursue” (Dt 16:20).h

Jesus taught his followers that God's justice is his immense love for every person on earth.

But even in the time of Jesus people suffered great injustices, like poverty or the lack of freedom.

Jesus asks us to love everyone and in this way, we will build a world of justice and peace.

Iyo Salomon from Gabon in Africa: One day I was sick and my Dad took me to the hospital where his friend, a doctor, works. When we got there, we saw a lot of sick people in need of help, but my dad's friend took care of us right away.

When we came out of his office, we met a Muslim woman who was crying loudly because her little boy was very sick and no one in the hospital wanted to take care of her because of the conflict between Muslims and Christians. My dad passed right by her, too, without doing anything. I insisted that we had to help her, but he said he was there only to take care of me.

So I told him, "Daddy, when you get to heaven, Jesus will tell you, 'You did that to me!'" Then my Dad agreed to help her and we went to his friend with the child and his mom. After the doctor took care of the child, we said goodbye to one another and I was very happy.
