

The guest is Jesus

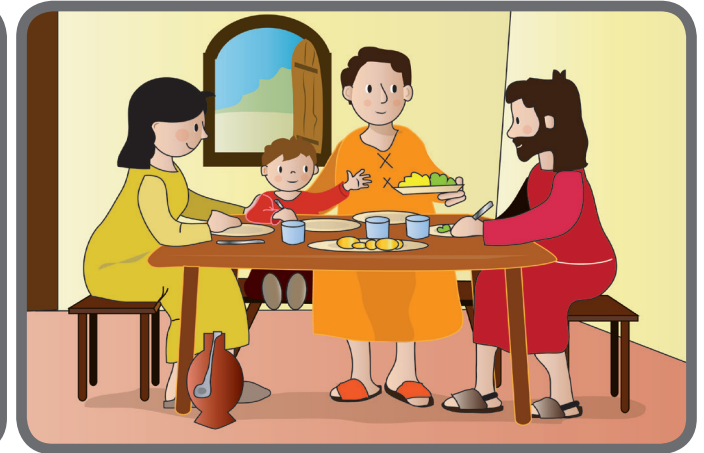

“Listen! I am standing at the door, knocking; if you hear my voice and open the door, I will come in to you and eat with you, and you with me” (Rev 3:20).

In the Book of Revelations we read these words of Jesus: “Listen! I am standing at the door, knocking.”

If you hear my voice and open the door for me, I will come in.

I will eat with you and you with me.

Delia tells her experience: One Sunday afternoon, in front of my coffee shop, I saw a large group of immigrant mothers with their children, who were crying because they were hungry.

I invited them to come in and I gave them food for free. In another room where people used to play cards, I set up a table to change the little babies.

Later on, we used that room to teach them our language. They call me their “African Mamma” and now other people and organizations are supporting me in helping them.
